EVENTS AT THE OLD CHURCH OF JEROME

The medieval 'Old Church of Jerome' in Noordwijk has been adapted to modern day demands and can therefore function as an extraordinary decor for seminars, group dinners, conventions, concerts, presentations and other events. Its space can hold up to 800 people (500 people for a sitting dinner). Klooster stylists know how to decorate and furnish the main auditorium in a setting and atmosphere of your choice.

The Old Church of Jerome is named after the town's patron saint; Jerome (8th century). The stone building originates from the 12th century and was altered and expanded a few times during the ages. It now is an impressive church (847 m<sup>2</sup> and 17 meters high), but not super sized like a cathedral. The size allows us to tastefully style the venue into a space where you'll still feel at ease. The building offers all modern facilities for seminars, large business meetings, conventions, dinners, lounging, receptions and presentations.

The Jerome Church is situated in the old village centre of Noordwijk. In front of the church there is a striking square with free parking and at the back it has a garden. A terrace or an attached marquee is therefore an attractive extra possibility at this location.
